A title a degree a grade
un pedazo o un papel de esta deuda does not define me

I can be proud
I deserve to be proud
But I am so much more

Soy aquella nube que me recuerda a mi abuelita el brillo de mis ojos que alumbra las montañas de este país

I did what I had to do because it made me believe following its rules would bring me success

No sé qué es eso
Supongo que es otra vida
la vida con la que mamá y papá soñaban

Y no es real
I am worth so much more
I deserve respect
I deserve to heal

Que sin el brillo de mis ojos no habría luz en este país

- vianney harelly

I went on a walk today and I collected these leaves. They made me think about caterpillars.

and then i thought about the one fuzzy, spiky brown caterpillar I found camping when I was a kid. I was at the campsite playground when I saw it and picked it up. The spikes hurt my hands a little, but I loved carrying it around the playground. It was so magical to me I mean a fuzzy caterpillar!

I remember a little girl on the playground told me it was poisonous. I kind of believed her because the fuzz made my hands feel a little weird. Like when you touch the cotton candy in the attic, that kind of feeling. To this day I still dont know if these are poisonous. After the girl told me I think I ended up letting the little furry guy go. I thought because it was poisonous I was gonna die. (i didnt die)

also if you were wondering, I just looked these up and certain types of fuzzy caterpillars are poisonous but who the fuck dies from caterpillars I have never known anyone to die from that.

looked it up
and there are some really fucking weird looking types of caterpillars out there

I mean seriously. Look up images of caterpillars do it right now...especially the Cecropia Moth caterpillar. That's drawn above. There's also the Saddleback Caterpillar which is really cute. The Flannel Moth caterpillar looks like a green wig and the Hubbards Silk Moth caterpillar looks insane with horn like spikes. 8

Math

Rock

MATH ROCK IS A SUBGENRE
CHARACTERIZED BY THE FREQUENT
CHANGING and USE OF IRREGULAR TIME SIGNATURES. THE MOST COMMON MEASURE IS A $\frac{9}{4}$ METER WHICH GOES, 1234, 1234, 1234 etc. WHEREAS IN MATH ROCK THEY USE MEASURES
LIKE $\frac{11}{8}$ or $\frac{13}{8}$ *

Ornette Coleman had a big influence on the Free Jazz Movement

ONE INFLUENCE OF MATH ROCK IS FREE JAZZ. THIS WAS AN EXPERIMENTAL APPROACH
IN THE LATE 1950'S
THE ARTISTS WOULD EXPERIMENT WITH TIME SIGNATURES DIFFERENT THEN WHAT THEY WERE USED TO PLAYING.

(King Crimson)

SOME OF THE MOST IMPORTANT PRECURSORS TO THE GENRE ARE BANDS 'BLACK FLAG' and
'KING CRIMSON'

IT HAD TO BE COMPLICATED. IT HAD TO BE MORE EXPENSIVE CHORDS.
IT HAD TO HAVE STRANGE INFLUENCES.
IF IT SOUDED TOO SIMPLE,
WE WOULD MAKE IT MORE COMPLICATED
WE'D PLAY IN $\frac{7}{8}$ and $\frac{5}{8}$
JUST TO SHOW OFF

-PETER SINFIELD
KING OF CRIMSON

MATH ROCK REALLY TOOK ITS LEAP IN
THE LATE 1990'S.
TAKING INFLUENCE FROM THE RIFFS OF PUNK & HARDCORE AND MIXING IT WITH THE METRICAL ASYMMETRY OF
PROGRESSIVE ROCK.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY

I made cupcakes with my friend Devin (she is Irish). I am not Irish (probably a little bit) but I love St. Patrick's day because of my Irish friend Devin.

I realized I don't know shit about St. Patrick, so
looked it up.
Apparently he is or was a Parron Saint of Ireland (I don't really know what that means either)
But RIP St.
Patrick!

A LETTER TO MY YOUNGER SELF

Dear younger self,

As each day goes by, I can't help but grow so much admiration for you. Although it wasn't easy, you have made it this far already and made it seem effortless. Though I am still young, I do have pieces of advice for you. Please go easier on yourself. It was not your fault in certain situations as that was all you knew. So please forgive yourself for circumstances you couldn't control. Be true to your authentic self. We were conditioned to be a certain way and all that was made us lose ourselves. Just do what you enjoy simply because you enjoy it. Or else you will grow up with resentment and a yearning for "breaking free." Lastly, and this is my biggest takeaway which is to live with love and not hate. The only thing that does is make life more miserable for you. So please live a life filled with giving and receiving love.

Know that this too shall pass,

♥ Juliana Yap 03/23

LOST & FOUND UMI

I found you out
Passed out by the station
I need you but I'm waiting Scared that if I'm honest I be letting you down so

For the right emotions to fill me See you can let me know
For the medication to lift me If you can't let it go
And oh

And allot

The silence is slowly killing you

I'm lost and I'm found

I'm held up by the shoe strings So I

Heard you're looking for a new thing Would rather be

To catch your attention

Anything you want me to be
Oh

I would rather be

Anything you want me to be

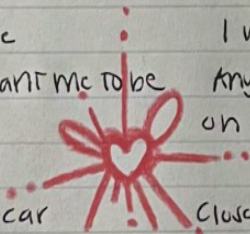

Oh

And I

I will drive this car

Anywhere you want me to see

Oh

Would drive this car

Anywhere you want me to see In everlasting peace

Oh

Can we go back to sleep

Forever and ever

Close to you is where I wanna be Far from you is where I seem to stay

In everlasting peace

Return to outer space

Can we go back to sleep

For you to find your place

Forever and ever

In heaven...

Far from you is where I seem to stay

Return to outer space

For you to find your place

In heaven

Dream lofty dreams, and as you dream, so shall you become.

A big house, little town

Know that all the pressure steady weighing you down and

A big heart full of doubt

Lexi-

Welcome to the world, beautiful girl! May you always look back on this card and know how much you are loved.
I may not always physically be with you but I always will be there for you when it counts.
You are a precious gift given to very dear people - your parents.
Love them and respect them with everything that you are.
I love you -
Aunt "Bear"

Lexi, you're sitting right in front of me... awkward.

I just can't imagine what my life would be like if I never saw you smile, or scream Black eyed peas songs, and ask for outfit recs. The little things you do make me so incredibly happy, and now sad, because I don't get to witness them anymore. You don't understand the impact you've made on my life. It's hard to say goodbye to someone you find so much comfort and solace in.

You are such an inspiring person, and I very much look up to you. (Chin up it can't like I respect you but also you're taller than me... lol...)
You see the truth in people, and that's an incredible quality. You know good from bad.
You've known things, when I'm completely clueless. I've learned a lot from you.

Now
I'm crying. My visions all blurry. I almost feel indebted to you. You've given me so much, and so many good memories.
I'm not sure how to repay you. You Lexi as cringy as this may sound, are truly an angel. You're completely blessed my life, and it is so hard to find a friend like you.
You have such a unique presence.

Letter from someone I no longer consider myself friends with.
Very strange to look back on.

Hi Lexi!

12/31/2020

I'm here chillin' in my bedroom, and it's really hype. You're a really extraordinary friend, and I've honestly been so happy to be close with you again.

I really did miss you.

I love you; you make me happy.

I wish you
the best year yet!
I hope this makes you happy
Regards,

I think keeping a memory
box is a very important part of my life. It gives me a moment to look back on & reflect not only how others have impacted me but also how I have impacted others. It's also never too late to start. Grab an old snore box and throw your various memorabilia in.

My mother's cakes taste like childhood

They can make you forget why you're in a bad mood

Small feet running across the kitchen floor

Spending your days watching t.v.
like it was a chore

Collecting roly-pollies and chasing the ice-cream truck

How clueless I was wishing I'd finally grow up

When all my life I thought
I just had dumb luck

I'm losing touch of what's even going on

Constantly feeling like my enemy is time

Confused yet mesmerized

Outgrown and alone

interview with yazmeen for her song i dont

Tell us about yourself, who you are, and what started your passion for music.

My name is Danya, I was born in Dallas, but my whole family is from the Caribbean. My passion for music first started with my dad's huge collection of music, mostly CDs and vinyl. He always played me the old-school stuff. Also, remember the era when McDonald's would give out those Kidz Bop CDs? I would be so happy when I got those as a kid. I had my own little radio in my room, I would play those CDs and whatever else I had.

Can you think of any specific songs or artists that remind you of your childhood?

Poison by Bel Biv Devoe, and also old school Micheal Jackson but specifically the Jackson 5 Christmas CD. Also, do you remember Geronimo Stilton? there was a specific soundtrack from one of the audiobooks that I used to love.

Student Danya Evans just released her first single on spotify

What does your process of creating a song and producing it look like?

I listen to a lot of music and when I find a loop that I like in a certain song I go and I chop that up in Garage Band and record my own vocals over it. My whole setup is my laptop and some earbuds and my guitar sometimes.

What are the biggest struggles within home recording?

I get really upset because I don't like a lot of the stuff that I make, and sometimes Garage Band can be difficult to use, it's not as advanced as something like Ableton. For example, whenever I am trying to speed stuff up or slow stuff down, Garage Band only allows you to speed up the tempo of the entire song instead of being able to speed up certain portions.

Who/what are your biggest inspirations?

Thunder Cat and Mami! Mami! does a lot of really cool stuff, she worked with Syd the Kyd from The Internet. The Internet is also a huge inspiration, I love that whole crew, they are epic. I also love Tricot a Japanese Math rock band, and then recently a newfound favorite is Coalter of the Deeper (make sure to gatekeep them).

How do you use these inspirations in your creative process?

Thunder Cat and Mami! have a lot of really great harmonies that I love so much that I do a lot of harmonies within my own music. Also because I sample a lot of stuff that is already an inspiration in and of itself.

“my whole setup is my laptop and some earbuds and my guitar sometimes”

We have seen you just came out with a single, “I don’t” by yazmeen on Spotify, Apple Music, and SoundCloud, tell us a little bit about this big accomplishment, what steps did it take to get here?

I just kept making stuff, first I had to figure out how to produce at home, which was pretty tough. I am also self-taught through music, production, and playing the guitar; I taught myself everything I know. I made this single around this time last year, sampled from the song Show and Tell by Juicy.

What made you decide to post it now and why the name yazmeen?

I felt it was the most clean cut thing I had made thus far, I have made about 10 songs since. And my middle is Yazmeen!

What is your favorite lyric from the song? What does that lyric mean to you?

“Clearly no ones ever told you no, Trust I am not the one to tell you yes, you really thought I’d be finessed” Which is so 18-year-old me to write, I wrote this during a time when I was talking to people who didn’t care about me.

What emotion do you want your audience to feel while listening to this song?

I hope not sad, I want people to dance that is my main goal: make music that people want to dance to

What is something about this song that you want people to know?

Don't let people take advantage of your time, you don't owe anyone anything.

What is your favorite instrument to play?

Right now guitar but usually piano, my favorite song to play on the piano is "song of storms" from The Legend of Zelda

What instrument do you want to learn how to play before you die?

Harp, it is so pretty, and drums. I also want to learn bass, I've never played before but it is more an instrument I plan on learning than a bucketlist instrument.

Clearly no ones ever told you no

Trust I am not the one to tell you yes

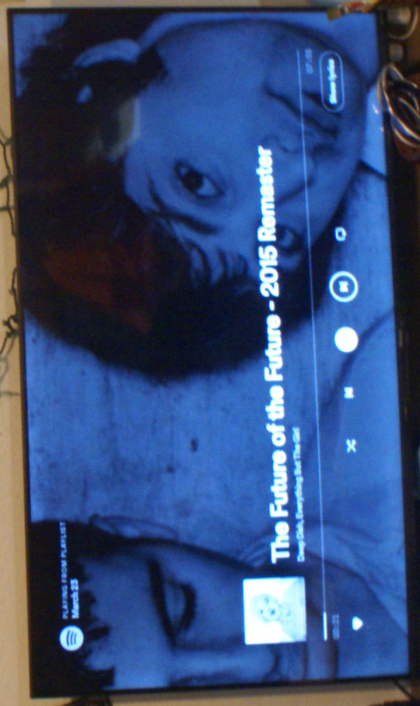

What are your other interests?

Draw, watch little shows, I like to read comics and manga. I like to skateboard but I'm not good at it at all, but it is fun I like it a lot.

WES ANDERSON

Below this text is London dressed as Max Fischer from Wes Anderson's Rushmore.

In the photograph above, we proudly present all four of our well-deserving winners, donning their gleaming gold medals and striking a pose for the camera, all credit goes to the talented photographer, Ben Rodriguez! We would like to recognize the exceptional effort of all of the other participants, who came so close to victory. The competition was NOT easy, and we were thoroughly impressed with the accuracy of everyone's costumes. Congratulations to all participants for making the event a success. We look forward to seeing more of your great work in the future.

Dear Sam,

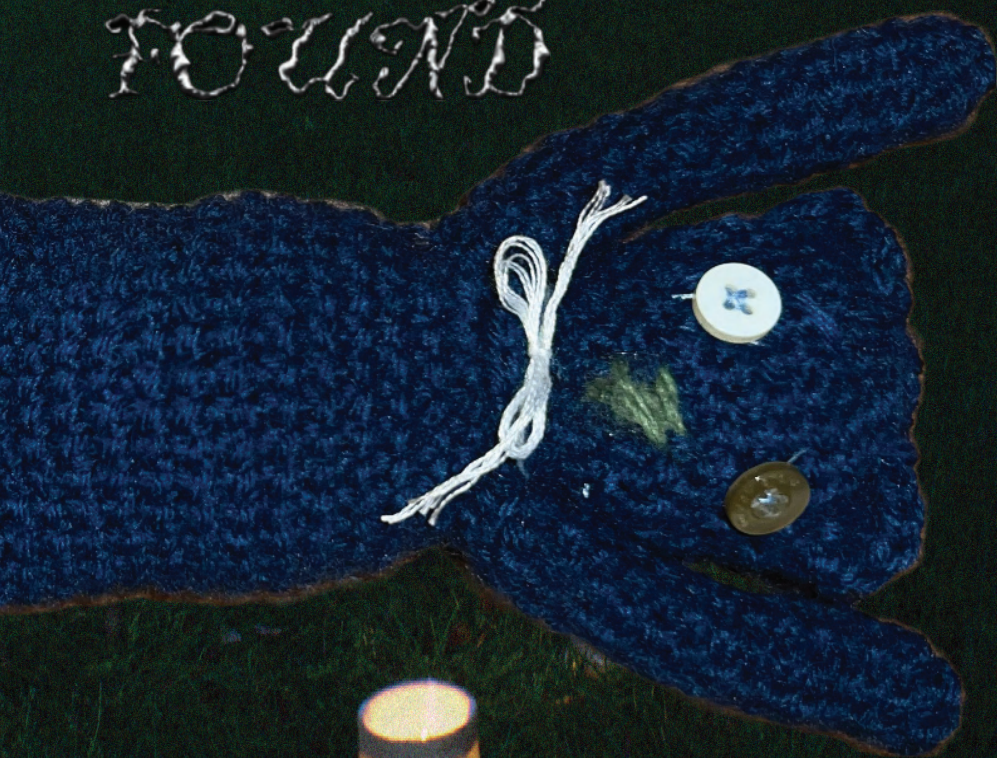

Dear Suzy,

Zine Club asked our members to dress up as Wes Anderson characters, those who dressed the best and most accurately to this Wes Anderson theme won a real gold medal and a free copy of the Zine you are currently reading. On these two pages, the winners are showcased. Pictured above is Andie (on the left) dressed as Suzy Bishop from Wes Anderson's Moonrise Kingdom. Standing beside Andie is Santi as Sam Shakusky. These two perfected the look of the young lovers. To the right, We have Zine Clubs' beloved and loyal member Ash! Ash is dressed as, who better than, Ash from Fantastic Mr. Fox.
